

2020

The Year n Review

2020, Oh, what a year!
Corona virus made us all fear
Our masks we did wear
To go here and there
A vaccine was slow to appear.

We began to work from our homes
Using our laptops and phones
Our jammies we wore
And sweatpants galore
While using our business-like tones

Our children did not go to schools
They stayed home and studied the rules
They learned on line
And that was just fine
As long as they don't end up fools.

We did not go to the store
We did not shop any more
But we did start
To use Instacart
They delivered it all to our door!

To restaurants, we could not go
At the movies, there was no show
The Met had no season
And that is the reason
Our Kindle books we got to know.

We also watched our TV
Many streamed programs did see,
We got on Netflix
And Amazon Prime picks
Yes, couch potatoes were we.

Our trips were cancelled, all four
We really can't fly any more
We don't go out
We stay home and pout
We don't want to make Fauci sore!

Our family and friends we did miss,
We wanted to give them a kiss
We saw them on Zoom
But not in the room
And that did not give us much bliss.

To 2020 we say goodbye
With nary a tear in our eye
You were so bad
You made us so sad
2021, we hope you are nigh.

I hope that this poem gave you cheer.
And that it made everything clear
Tho' this year is done
We did have some fun
And I wish you A Happy New Year

A Poem by Carol Semonsky, Roswell, Georgia